Mastercard’s agreement to acquire Transfast

19 March 2019

eServGlobal (LSE: ESG.L & ASX: ESV.AX), a pioneering digital transactions technology Company, highlights the announcement made by Mastercard regarding its entry into an agreement to acquire Transfast (attached as an annexure to this announcement) as evidence of Mastercard’s continued interest and investment in the cross-border space.

HomeSend, eServGlobal’s joint venture with Mastercard, has been working directly with Mastercard to offer new innovative cross-border services to banks via Mastercard Send. In 2018, HomeSend processed account-to-account transactions originating from Mastercard Send for Cross Border for the first time. This launch was a culmination of a lengthy integration process to ensure that HomeSend’s capability and endpoints could be offered seamlessly via Mastercard Send’s service.

Transfast is a network partner of HomeSend, offering reach and connectivity principally into Africa and Latin America, together with foreign exchange and ancillary services. Network relationships are a critical element of HomeSend’s services and HomeSend continues to grow these partnerships through several regional network partners, such as Transfast, together with HomeSend’s own direct connections, to deliver across multiple markets and channels.

HomeSend is committed to its strategy and continues to work closely with Mastercard to support and drive the significant opportunity for the joint venture and Mastercard Send within the cross-border market.
